Course Description

A chronological examination of Western art in relation to significant historical and cultural events from WWII to the present.

Objectives of the Course

Art History 209 examines the major streams, influences and artists of the mid- to post modern period. The main objectives of this course and the assignments are to give the student a coherent picture of the course of late, or radical modern art, to the postmodern; and also to develop critical analytical and writing skills that will be required for senior level courses in art and art history.

Textbooks and Readings

Recommended Texts:
Movements in Art Since 1945: Edward Lucie Smith
Themes of Contemporary Art: Visual Art After 1980: Jean Robinson; Craig McDaniel

Writing/Plagiarism

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense.

Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university.

You must document not only direct quotations but also paraphrases and ideas where they appear in your text. A reference list at the end is insufficient by itself. Readers must be able to tell exactly where your words and ideas end and other people's words and ideas begin. This includes assignments submitted in non-traditional formats such as Web pages or visual media, and material taken from such sources. Please consult your instructor or Writing Support Services (at the Student Success Centre) if you have any questions regarding how to document sources.
