Objectives of the Course

Upon satisfactory completion of this course students will be able to:

1. Present a thoughtful and critical analysis of a community venue within which art/cultural education occurs.
2. Develop a coherent and appropriate proposal for educational activity in a specific community venue (and, where appropriate, implement such a proposal).
3. Justify such a proposal with reference to current literature.

Textbooks and Readings

This is a "Blackboard" course. Class notes are available on the website. Students are required to access it frequently. Students will locate and share links to readings as required. Students will also be responsible for any costs associated with their field experience, including transportation, parking, etc.

Registrar-Scheduled Final Exam – No

Students are required to complete ALL PROJECTS as assigned in order to pass the course. Due dates as announced in class or as stated in the course notes, are final. Late assignments will be accepted WITH PRIOR ARRANGEMENT WITH THE INSTRUCTOR, BUT MAY BE SUBJECT TO A GRADE PENALTY. Except in the latter case, no assignment will be accepted two weeks following the last day of class in the term.

Additional Information

1. Students are totally responsible for making themselves aware of all assignments, procedures, events and due dates announced in class and posted on the web. Absences do not excuse students from this responsibility.
2. Seminar participation is worth 20% of the final grade. This means physical presence at the very least; verbal interaction will be a much clearer indication of participation.

Field experience, seminars, and presentation comprise the main activities in this course. Other activities may include guest lectures, demonstrations, film/slide presentations.

Writing/Plagiarism

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university.

You must document not only direct quotations but also paraphrases and ideas where they appear in your text. A reference list at the end is insufficient by itself. Readers must be able to tell exactly where your words and ideas end and other people's words and ideas begin. This includes assignments submitted in non-traditional formats such as Web pages or visual media, and material taken from such sources. Please consult your instructor or Writing Support Services (at the Student Success Centre) if you have any questions regarding how to document sources.
