Course description:

Drawing: 343 - Construction of Pictorial Space is an observational and representational drawing course that extends the range of concepts and practices in drawing to include pictorial space. The focus of this course is on linear and atmospheric perspective. The approaches may include one and two-point perspective grids, architectural rendering, interior and exterior plans, and the study of equivocal vs plastic space. Student work will be addressed in the context of research, problem-solving, visual fluency, and conceptual development.

Prerequisites and/or co-requisites:

Art 241

Course Objectives:

- Students will work with a variety of subjects exploring how to interpret and translate three-dimensional space into a two-dimensional represented form.
- Students will be introduced to a range of historical drawing techniques that focus on direct observation, the ability to create visual landmarks and map one-, two- and three-point perspective grids.

- Students will begin utilizing the language of drawing through mark-making, atmospheric/linear perspective, positive/negative relationships, tonal compositions, symmetry, and light/shadow to develop their process for recreating and further manipulating specific areas of interest.
- Students will be exposed to both historical and contemporary approaches to constructing form while beginning to think about the conceptual application of handmade, mass-produced, and organic found materials.
- Students will begin the process of learning to clarify intentions, assess themselves as well as one another, set and track goals and communicate progress while introducing the potential for more cross-discipline integration into a drawing.
- Students will begin to focus on establishing an individual vocabulary and develop the ability to contextualize and evaluate academic research regarding other artists, key critical debates, and philosophies.
- Students are encouraged through a process of experimentation and discovery to demonstrate the value of reflective practice. Through assessed components such as verbal critiques, and written statements students will demonstrate their ability to research and critically reflect upon outcomes

Assessment expectations:

Attendance -

- Students are expected to conduct themselves to the highest level of professionalism.
- Students are expected to attend all classes prepared with drawing materials to partake in-class exercises.
- Students are expected to be ready to hang and critique finished assignments on outlined date of class critiques.
- Multiple late arrivals or missed sessions will result in the deduction of attendance marks unless you have contacted the instructor before the missed class.

Written Statements-

- Each assignment will include a brief artist statement. Each statement should outline the intention of each piece with no fewer than 100 words. Statements should be a student's best attempt at proper spelling, grammar, and writing composition. Artist statements are to be included in each portfolio review. Grading rubrics will be presented and discussed.

In-class exercises-

- The instructor will conduct demonstrations related to specific course topics. Following each demonstration students will have the opportunity to work on graded exercises and receive feedback.

Completed in-class exercises must be presented at each portfolio review. Grading rubrics will be presented and discussed.

Assignments and portfolio reviews-

- Each assignment is due on the outlined date for an in-class peer and instructor critique. Assignments not completed and presented on each date of the outlined critique will lose 25% of the final grade. The instructor must be contacted before critique if a student will not be able to make the outlined date.
- Once critiqued, students will have the opportunity to consider each opinion and revisit the work if they choose before handing in assignments for a final graded portfolio review.

Portfolio reviews –

- Portfolios of student work will be handed in twice a semester on outlined dates. Students may present digital photographs of each assignment or hand them in physical pieces. Late portfolios will result in a 10% deduction per day until the fifth day in which they will no longer be accepted. Final portfolios must be handed in on the outlined date, failure to hand in will result in automatic zero. Grading rubrics will be presented and discussed.
